

Henry Dormitzer

MANAGING DIRECTOR & TRUSTEE

617-248-2123 hdormitzer@choate.com

Henry Dormitzer serves on the investment committee at Choate Investment Advisors and as a trustee for family trusts and foundations. Drawing on over 30 years' experience in the industry, Henry specializes in direct investments into private companies, investing in private equity funds, and fixed income investments. Henry also helps families devise governance systems and operational platforms to support their family office needs.

Before joining Choate, Henry served as the chief executive officer of a private energy company developing hydropower facilities on existing dams through the United States and advising private equity funds on energy project acquisitions.

He was a managing director at investment banking firm UBS where he managed the firm's Massachusetts public finance office. He was the senior underwriter of $24 billion of new issue municipal bonds for transportation, clean water programs, general infrastructure and real estate projects.
