Cameron Casey provides comprehensive estate planning advice to high-net-worth individuals and families. She works with her clients to develop plans that achieve clients' goals for themselves, their families and the charitable organizations that are important to them. Strategic tax planning is integral to this process. Cameron serves as a trustee and family advisor for clients, helping them steward family capital, foster intergenerational transitions, and communicate philanthropic values. Cameron also advises tax-exempt organizations and corporate fiduciaries on charitable planning matters.
