A Debrief of the Supreme Court's Decision in Amgen v. Sanofi

In this episode of Choate's Life Sciences Insights Podcast Series, Sophie Wang, Stephanie Schonewald and Peter Flynn discuss the US Supreme Court's opinion in Amgen v. Sanofi, one of this term's most highly-watched cases for our clients concerning the law of enablement as it applies to patents directed to antibody therapeutics. Choate submitted an amicus brief in this case on behalf of Nobel Laureate and distinguished immunologist, Sir Gregory Winter, and a collection of other notable scientists, in support of Sanofi and Regeneron.
