Bryana McGillycuddy to Speak On CDMO Outsourcing at IPWatchdog Life Sciences Masters

Bryana McGillycuddy will speak on the panel, "The CDMO Surge and Potential IP Landmines in Outsourcing" at the IPWatchdog Life Sciences Masters 2024 on Monday, October 28th at 3:40 p.m.

The panel will discuss the unique IP challenges associated with biotech and pharma companies outsourcing to CROs, CMOs, and CDMOs across all stages, from discovery to commercialization, particularly the risk of triggering the on-sale bar when contractors are paid to develop products and processes for these companies. A full panel description and conference information can be found here.
