Choate Congratulates BioNTech on its Acquisition of InstaDeep

Choate was privileged to provide IP diligence counsel to BioNTech in support of its recent acquisition of InstaDeep. The companies have described this acquisition as building on a successful track record of increasing collaboration between them, and as enabling creation of a fully integrated, enterprise-wide capability to discover, design and develop next-generation immunotherapies at scale by leveraging artificial intelligence (AI) and machine learning (ML) technologies across BioNTech's therapeutic platforms and operations. This extraordinary project involved coordinated work across Choate's Life Sciences, Engineering, and Collaborations groups. We look forward to supporting the merged team as they continue to develop exciting technologies of the future.
