Choate Expands Fund Formation and Investment Management Practice with Former Lowenstein Partner Jonathan Danziger

Veteran investment management partner with deep expertise advising established hedge funds and emerging managers expands Choate's New York presence.

Choate welcomes Jonathan Danziger as a Partner in the Firm's nationally recognized Fund Formation and Investment Management practice. A recognized leader and strategic adviser to some of the largest and most established hedge funds as well as emerging managers, Jonathan brings deep subject‑matter expertise that will meaningfully enhance Choate's fund‑related offerings and support Choate's strategic growth in New York.

"Jonathan is highly regarded in the investment management community and brings a market-tested understanding of how funds and investment managers operate, enabling him to deliver timely, actionable counsel to clients," said Lee Feldman, Practice Chair of Choate's Private Equity and M&A Group.

Jonathan joins Choate from Lowenstein Sandler, where he was a Partner in the firm's Investment Management Group in New York. His background also includes senior in‑house experience for more than a decade as a Partner, General Counsel and Chief Compliance Officer at Glenview Capital Management, a New York-based hedge fund founded in 2000.

"Choate is renowned for its integrated, business-focused approach to complex transactional and regulatory matters, as well as its unwavering commitment to exceptional client service and collaboration with its clients," said Jonathan. "My own commitment to cultivating strong, trust-based relationships aligns perfectly with Choate's mission and I look forward to working alongside an outstanding team to help investment managers structure, launch, and operate funds in an increasingly complex market with forward-looking, commercially minded guidance."

Jonathan earned his J.D. from the Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law and a B.A. from George Washington University. He is admitted to practice in New York.
