Choate represented RS2 Healthcare Partners in its investment in KMM Group, a vertically integrated precision contract manufacturer specializing in complex, tight-tolerance components for the medical device industry and other highly demanding markets. KMM represents the first new platform investment by RS2 following the firm's decision to rebrand and focus exclusively on healthcare investing in the lower middle market. The investment will help KMM expand its capabilities and further strengthen its position as a premier contract manufacturer for medtech and other end markets.
