Choate Represents Sverica Capital Management in Strategic Growth Investment in Raken

Choate represented Sverica Capital Management in its strategic growth investment in Raken, a field management software provider to the construction industry focused on streamlining reporting and project oversight. Raken's platform includes features such as daily progress reporting, time and production tracking, safety and quality management, as well as workforce management, and serves over 4,500 construction firms, subcontractors, and general contractors. Sverica's partnership with Raken will help the company serve expanding customer needs, build innovative new solutions, and broaden its field management platform for the construction industry.
