Melissa Adams Speaking About IP Careers at Harvard Microbial Sciences Initiative

Melissa Adams will be speaking about "Careers in IP" at the Harvard University Microbial Sciences Initiative (MSI) professional development seminar series on Wednesday, July 23 from 9:00-10:00 a.m.

MSI is an open microbiology community based out of Harvard serving the microbe-curious both within and beyond the university. Part of MSI's undergraduate research fellowship includes a professional development seminar series that helps students explore a variety of scientific career paths.

More information about MSI can be found here.
